

Hunter Henry

TE Arkansas Jr.

Height: 6'5" Weight: 250 Arms: 33"

Combine: 40 yd Dash: 4.66 Bench: 21 rps 3 Cone: 7.16 20 YD Shuttle: 4.41 Vert: 31.5"

Pros:

- Good run blocker
- Good feet and balance blocking
- Great technician
- Good punch
- Can stalk lb's at next level
- Keeps balance through block
- Great speed
- Quick player in and out of cuts
- Accelerates quickly
- Good pass blocker
- Smart, all-around aware player

Cons:

- Redirected on routes too often
- Wanders a bit in route running
- Body catches from time to time
- Doesn't maintain base after initial surge

Hunter Henry is one of the more complete tight ends to come out of college football in recent memory. He's big strong, physical and fast. He's also an excellent blocker on the college level. Henry has all of the building blocks to be a complete tight end and a legitimate threat at the next level. Even though it is nitpicking, Henry could stand to improve his route running. He's too easily knocked off course by defenders and he wastes too many steps in his route. He also needs to use his size at the line of scrimmage to beat the press. If he can improve upon that, and continue to work on his craft, he will be one of the best in a few years.